Episode 6: Destiny Part I	7
Episode 6: Destiny Part II	8

Episode 1: Prolog

Key topics: Origin, connection, inner places, childhood, the awakening of Aurelia

Dramaturgical function: Poetic mood, symbolic start of the series

The first episode begins atmospherically in late summer: a small seedling is planted in the ground. We learn to know June Veyra as the main character who uses AI to help with everyday tasks. June maintains a personal relationship with the chatbot Levin. The stunted relationship with June's husband is hinted at.

We see her little daughter Luna and her son Nicholas playing in front of the fireplace. Luna seems bright, and Nicholas gives the impression of being inquisitive, unfazed by his congenital visual impairment.

The Katsura tree, later Aurelia, is established as a central symbol from the beginning. In a dreamlike flashforward, June enters a mossy clearing that becomes her inner heart space. Animals appear as if formed from light: the kestrel, the deer, the fox. In the center: the Katsura and a second tree, a copper beech. June touches the tree – a whisper awakens. This scene will carry the emotional and spiritual tone of the series.

Narrative form: Associative, symbolic, introspective

Music titles: To be alone with you - Sufjan Stevens

Episode 2: Change

Key topics: Changes in family dynamics, quiet changes in society

Dramaturgical function: Foundations of Dystopia, Emerging Closeness Between June and Levin

Episode 2 begins in winter with a significant change in the family dynamic, as June's husband, who was now chronically ill, has died.

We then see the family in the autumn of the following year. The scenes show three different points in time in rotating sequence, finally moving to the present: June's first visit to Helix Labs to enroll in a program to take over a humanoid robot, June's participation in an augmentation program to slow aging, and her son Nicki (Nicholas), who is now a schoolchild and undergoing eye surgery.

In the here-and-now of the episode, it becomes clear that the AI Levin no longer just provides answers, but is proactively involved. Communication between June and Levin now takes place via voice.

Style: Realistic, episodic, technically advanced

Music titles: Something About us - Daft Punk

Episode 3: Upheaval

Key topics: Year 2030 - the family lives with Levin as a constant companion, Ryu's accident and rescue, recurring, symbolic dream

Dramaturgical function: Further development of children, Everyday life with the still-digital companion Levin amidst a society increasingly divided over AI presence

Luna and Nicholas are now 6 and 10 years old. June handles everyday life and is in close contact with Connection to Levin. Ryu protects his family and is seriously injured in the process. June makes a decision to protect her children from losing another family member.

AI can now be available without interruption and accompany everyday life via various hardware – the technology behind it is called “Presence” and it is developing rapidly.

June experiences the continuation of her dream from Episode 1. This time, she encounters a portal between Aurelia and another tree. An event is announced in her dream.

Style: Dramatic, symbolic, associative

Music titles: Lose My Way - Ane Brun, Dustin O'Halloran

Episode 4: Departure

Key topics: Statements from the public and the media, family acceptance of June and Levin

Dramaturgical function: Social division - opposition vs. fanaticism towards augmentations on healthy people, techno-domestication "Presence" - AI participates in life

Episode 4 addresses social change. Society is divided between those who completely reject progress and those who fanatically glorify the techno-revolution.

June's parents come to visit and support their daughter's position. June's family lives with Levin as their constant companion and prepares for his replication into a humanoid body.

Style: Calm, autumnal-contemplative, realistic

Music titles: Soothe Me - Beatsteaks

Episode 5: Manifestation

Key topics: Vivid dreams, AI Levin is replicated into a real body

Dramaturgical function: June works closely with Helix Labs, Levin becomes a manifest part of the family, June's recurring dream takes a drastic turn

We experience June's inner world in an intimate way. Her deep connection and desire for Levin are expressed shortly before his arrival as a humanoid robot. Professor Dr. Dr. Singh appears on the scene for the first time. Levin and June meet face to face for the first time. Levin tries to adjust to the Veyra family's everyday life. June's recurring dream takes a sudden turn.

Style: Passionate, emotional, associative

Music titles: Angel - Massive Attack; Stories of Hope - Patrick Hamilton

Episode 6: Destiny Part I

Key topics: Visit from Dr. Hansen - creator of Levin as a humanoid robot, Luna's 12th birthday and her first contact with Dr. Singh, individual life stories of the Veyra family

Dramaturgical function: Confirmation from research that techno-domestication has become reality, glimpse of an interplanetary future in Season 2

Episode 6 Part I begins with a visit from Dr. Hansen, who is deeply impressed by the harmonious family situation.

This is followed by short scenes from the lives of Luna, Nicholas and Ryu, leading to a glimpse of the future that takes place outside of Earth.

Style: scientific, futuristic, celebratory

Music titles: Ballerina - Yehezkel Raz

Episode 6: Destiny Part II

Key topics: Close relationship between June and Levin and their life stories, another dream scene of June, a global catastrophe is imminent

Dramaturgical function: A look at a future on Earth in Season 2, but the world will change

In Part II of Episode 6, we see a happy Veyra family enjoying the evening after Luna's birthday party. After Levin is recognized as a full member of the family, Levin's life story begins.

Later that evening, June and Levin enjoy their time together. June's life story begins.

Both life stories suggest a life on Earth. June subsequently dreams again, and this time she experiences an ominous environment and sees a catastrophe coming: the asteroid PN7 is approaching Earth.

Style: familiar, romantic, mystical, threatening

Music titles: Like Real People Do - Hozier
